

I am Kind at School

Written by Coffee and Carpool: Raising Kind Kids Illustrated by Educlips

I am Kind at School

Written by Coffee and Carpool: Raising Kind Kids Illustrated by Educlips

I greet people when I pass them by saying "Hi," "Hello," or "How are you?" That's an easy way to be friendly.

I greet people when I pass them by saying "Hi," "Hello," or "How are you?" That's an easy way to be friendly.

I share my supplies because when I have something a classmate needs, I can offer to let them use it.

I share my supplies because when I have something a classmate needs, I can offer to let them use it.

I take turns and I can patiently wait for my turn because I know I'll get a turn next. I can let my classmates go first.

I take turns and I can patiently wait for my turn because I know I'll get a turn next. I can let my classmates go first.

I help friends when they are hurt. I can cheer them up, take them to the nurse or get an adult to help.

I help friends when they are hurt. I can cheer them up, take them to the nurse or get an adult to help.

I keep my hands to myself and I'm careful not to hurt others. I stay in my own 'space bubble' to respect my classmates.

I keep my hands to myself and I'm careful not to hurt others. I stay in my own 'space bubble' to respect my classmates.

I help clean up trash and make sure my space is clean. I can also help pick up trash that's not mine if I see it.

I help clean up trash and make sure my space is clean. I can also help pick up trash that's not mine if I see it.

I invite other kids when I see they're sitting by themselves or not playing. It feels less lonely to be welcomed to join a group.

I invite other kids when I see they're sitting by themselves or not playing. It feels less lonely to be welcomed to join a group.

I am Kind at School

Written by Coffee and Carpool: Raising Kind Kids Illustrated by Educlips

I am Kind at School

Written by Coffee and Carpool: Raising Kind Kids Illustrated by Educlips

I greet people when I pass them by saying "Hi," "Hello," or "How are you?" That's an easy way to be friendly.

I greet people when I pass them by saying "Hi," "Hello," or "How are you?" That's an easy way to be friendly.

I share my supplies because when I have something a classmate needs, I can offer to let them use it.

I share my supplies because when I have something a classmate needs, I can offer to let them use it.

I take turns and I can patiently wait for my turn because I know I'll get a turn next. I can let my classmates go first.

I take turns and I can patiently wait for my turn because I know I'll get a turn next. I can let my classmates go first.

I help friends when they are hurt. I can cheer them up, take them to the nurse or get an adult to help.

I help friends when they are hurt. I can cheer them up, take them to the nurse or get an adult to help.

I keep my hands to myself and I'm careful not to hurt others. I stay in my own 'space bubble' to respect my classmates.

I keep my hands to myself and I'm careful not to hurt others. I stay in my own 'space bubble' to respect my classmates.

I help clean up trash and make sure my space is clean. I can also help pick up trash that's not mine if I see it.

I help clean up trash and make sure my space is clean. I can also help pick up trash that's not mine if I see it.

I invite other kids when I see they're sitting by themselves or not playing. It feels less lonely to be welcomed to join a group.

I invite other kids when I see they're sitting by themselves or not playing. It feels less lonely to be welcomed to join a group.

I am Kind at School Emergent Reader Discussion Starters:

Why is it important to be kind?

How is greeting someone kind?

What are some ways we can greet people?

How does it feel when you are kind?

When can you let someone else go first?

Why do we keep our hands to ourselves?

How can we help someone who got hurt on the playground?

Who can you help at school to make our school a better school?

How can you invite others to join you so they feel included and welcomed?

