Teaching Kindness is Essential.

When children don't feel welcomed, included, and physically and emotionally safe, they won't be able to learn. I'm Nicole Black and I create resources to help create a classroom community, to limit bullying behaviors, and to intentionally help kids speak and act with kindness more often.

Kindness can be taught. This resource will help you do it.

Ways to Use This Resource:

1. Print the version you wish to use:
 - *color
 - *black and white
2. If you use the color version, kids can illustrate and write/dictate the last page. The kids will circle the words that make sense for them.
3. If you use the black and white version, kids can color in the pictures and then illustrate and write/dictate the last page. The kids will circle the words that make sense for them.
4. They can also circle the foods they eat, etc.
5. Follow up and use the discussion starters to talk about why it's wonderful that we all celebrate in different ways and why it's important to understand we all celebrate differently.
6. Kids can write in one of the two writing prompts to showcase their holiday or to show what they know about a classmate's holiday.
7. You can go through and see how many kids circled which answers and make a bar graph.

We Celebrate Differently

Discussion Starters:

Why is it important/great we all celebrate different holidays?

What would happen if we all only celebrated the same way? Would it be boring if we were all the same?

What holiday that you don't celebrate would you like to learn more about?

What do some of the holidays have in common? What are some things we all do to celebrate?

Why is it important to know we all celebrate different holidays?

Are other people's holidays "weird?" Or are they just different than yours?

What are some of your favorite ways to celebrate your family's holidays? What are your favorite traditions?
